- 3.This film is really thought-provoking as it ..
- 4.The visuals and sound in the film were absolutely stunning!

One example

The Korean film “parasite”

I felt strongly cuz the film provoked so much of my thinking, you know, I never really thought about how social stratification is real because I always stay in my comfort zone. But the film revealed a lot about the socioeconomic differences between people and how it affects their lives. It made me realize that privilege and inequality are prevalent, like in the movie ...

Another example

The Chinese classic “the rickshaw boy”

The film triggered a lot of my emotions, as I got to know how people could struggle so bad during the war time, when society is undergoing turbulences. It was heartbreaking to witness the pain, loss, and sacrifices that one individual would endure... like there was this one scene where ..

A more abstract one

Describe a drawing/painting that you like

You should say

When you first saw this painting

What the painting is about

Who drew/painted it

And explain why you like this drawing/painting

Talk about your new discoveries/ emotional changes/ brand-new cognition..etc.

For example

In term of why I like this drawing/painting
I think one of the reasons is that:

The painting made me realize that it's true that art could convey emotions. You know, I used to believe that arts such as painting only had aesthetic value. But this particular piece changed my perspective entirely...looking at the painting, I could feel a sense of melancholy(or any other emotions), it made me realize that art has the power to transcend mere visuals and touch our innermost being...

You try now

Describe a drawing/painting that you like

You should say

When you first saw this painting

What the painting is about
